PRESS RELEASE – 5th December 2008

Lost Dog Theatre presents

Love in (3) Parts

Devised by the Company
Original Soundtrack by James Dey

12th to 31st January 2009
PRESS NIGHT: THURSDAY 15TH JANUARY 2009

Lost Dog Theatre invite you to delve into the jaunty world of Claire and Paul as they try to progress from first date to last love. Love in (3) Parts is a play about the beautiful awkwardness of life, the things we do, the things we don't and the things we miss.

By turns funny and warm and others tragic and bleak, Love in (3) Parts explores the slightly off-kilter world of two perfectly mismatched individuals; stumbling into love and all the complexities it brings with it. All accompanied by a sparkling, specially commissioned, live soundtrack from the never ruffled James Dey.

"The direction of the piece and skill of the actors is faultless." - Three Weeks

More akin to a live music video than a musical, Lost Dog have successfully blended together performance with live music, song and video to create a truly touching and unique take on an age old theme.

Love in (3) Parts previewed to sell out audiences at the Tobacco Factory in Bristol and was a huge hit at the Edinburgh Festival this year.

"Dey's beautiful compositions hold the whole thing together, illuminating both the sadness and the harmony that underlie the story." - The Scotsman

The dog's, Dan Mallaghan and Richard Warburton, formed some moons ago and are quickly gaining a reputation for producing original and entertaining new work, innovatively incorporating live music into their performances. They are resident at the Theatre in the Mill, Bradford, where they have premiered past works Dead Icons and DeadEnd, which performed at the Underbelly in 2005.

"A wonderful show" – Yorkshire Post
